Directions: Make believe it's five years after you've graduated college. You're 27 years old. Try to imagine realistically what job you are applying for then. Pretend I'm the employer across the table asking you these questions. Impress me with full and neat answers in ink.

1. Job you are applying for:
2. What is your educational background?
3. What is your work history?
4. What kind of car do you drive?
5. What are your hobbies?
6. Are you involved in any after-work clubs or organizations?
7. What kinds of skills do you have?
8. Why do you think you we should hire you for this job?
9. What are your short-term and long-term professional goals?

10. Pick five words that describe you.
11. What are your strengths and weaknesses?
12. How do you think other people see you?
13. Describe your morals and values.
14. This job requires a great amount of patience. Can you tell me about a time that showed your patience?
15. The right person for this job also is given a great deal of responsibility. Can you tell me about a time that showed your responsibility?
16. If you could visit anywhere in the world, where would you go and why?
17. If you could meet anyone who ever lived, who would it be and why?
18. What is your goal in life?
19. Is there anything else you want to share with me?
